YOUNG WIFE ENDS LIFE ON SIDEWALK

Husband Catches the Falling Form of His Bride of a Few Months.

HE IS HELD AS A WITNESS

Found Her in East St. Louis When He Thought Her in Arkansas.

In the presence of her husband, James Simms, who was standing only a few feet away, Mrs. Grace Simms, bride of a few months, swallowed carbolic acid in front of the National Hotel, East St. Louis, Thursday evening, and fell dead into her husband's arms.

The couple were married Feb. 9 last, and for a time lived on a farm at Mill Creek, Ill. Early in August Mrs. Simms left her husband, telling him that she was going to visit her parents at Paragould, Ark.

Later Simms learned that, instead of going to Paragould, his wife had returned to East St. Louis.

He followed her and Thursday morning surprised her by walking into her room at 312 North Fifth street.

Simms tried to affect a reconciliation, but his wife declared her intention of remaining in East St. Louis. The husband then said his wife had been alone since for the National Hotel, where he was formerly employed, to apply for reinstatement in his former position. His wife accompanied him, and passing a drug store, complained of feeling ill and went inside and made a purchase.

When they came near the hotel, Simms met a friend and stopped to talk with him. Mrs. Simms walked on a few feet and then stopped and raised something to her lips. Her husband ran to her side to see what she had taken, and just as he reached her she fell back dead into his arms.

Simms is held as a witness for the coroner. He is in custody of the police. Mrs. Simms was 21 years old.

Mrs. J. H. Kelly, at whose home Mrs. Simms was rooming states that she overheard a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Simms the morning just before they left for the hotel, in which the wife declared, "I am going to kill myself." Simms disclaimed knowledge of his wife's intention to end her life.

"JIM THE PENMAN," POLICE SAY, CAUGHT

Alleged Forger, Under Arrest After Two Years' Quest, Charged With Passing Many Bad Checks.

Richard Kelly, arrested Wednesday night in the neighborhood of the Agriculture building by World's Fair detectives Marion and Hendy, is thought by the police to be most-wanted forger.

The police say the man just arrested has been wanted for two years, during which time the police of Carondelet have been carrying pictures of him about in their pockets.

Kelly is given a series of aliases by the police, of which some are J. R. Hughes, Richard Baker, M. Shubert and H. Roth. It is said that he has already been indicted by the grandjury for forgery and that a warrant pending against him and issued May 2, 1902, charges him with grand larceny.

It is alleged that on Oct. 23, 1902, Kelly passed a forged check for $20 on John Becker, a grocer of 68 South Broadway, and that on Oct. 23 of same year he passed a forged check for $15 on Walter C. James, a saloon keeper of 280 South Jefferson avenue. For these alleged forged checks the police say Kelly has been indicted.

The warrant said to be against Kelly charges the lacancy of a diamond valued at $50 and a watch worth $60 from Philip H. Hartman's safe.

Kelly is also charged with having passed a forged check for $37 on Funston Brothers of Alexandria, La., Aug. 1, 1902. It is charged Kelly passed a forged check for $15 on the Sanders Printing Ink Co. of Chicago.

The police say that Kelly has already served a term in Sing Sing prison for forgery, by occupation and recently lived at 80 Gano street.

FINE WEATHER PROMISED US

Missouri weather, as well as Missouri men and women from Missouri towns, has been on display this week at the Fair, and, having already

DAD ANYONE SAY THIS HOT TONIGHT?

When it is considered that the mercury marked only 76 degrees at 7 o'clock Thursday morning and that even this same day will be scaled down to 66, less by the same hour Friday morning, it can be seen that conditions are not far from ideal hereabouts. The prediction is: "Fair Thursday night, Friday and Saturday; much cooler tonight."

MUSICAL MYSTERY OF MOONLIT NIGHT

Why Did Belleville Policeman Request Serenaders to Silence Strains of Attempted Melody?

CHECKED AT MAYOR'S HOUSE

But Burgomaster Kern Says He Did Not Order Suppression of Soulful Songsters.

Belleville is riven by a musical debate. There are three questions:

1. Can Dr. W. West Jr., the doctor's two sisters, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rogers, Edward Rogers, Robert Besse and John Guth sing?

2. Did they try to sing and suffer the humiliation of being stopped by the police?

3. Did Mayor Fred I. Kern order the police to stop it?

The debate has grown out of a mysterious incident of Tuesday night. The ladies and gentlemen whose vocal ability is in question, went to an ice cream social. They left for home at 11 o'clock.

Just what happened after that is a mystery. Dr. West, who is the Belleville health officer and one of the prominent residents of the city, says they were serenading and were stopped by the police. It is town talk that they were stopped while serenading Mayor Kern, and people do say that the police acted by the mayor's order.

Mayor Kern denies that he gave any such order.

A few people say that the order is in the city ordinances, provided, of course, the singing was that bad.

Anyhow, the popular story of the affair, whatever its faults, is most interesting. It is like this:

After leaving the ice cream social the party emerged into the moonlit street. It was a beautiful night. There was not a stain on the clean face of the moon, and a breeze as rare as old Charthouse pressed gently from the east.

The young people felt like singing. It was a night of nights for a song. The Meissners, Guth and Besse have been singing as quartet for years, and Dr. West and the ladies had sung.

They approached the residence of General William H. Powell, internal revenue collector in the Belleville district. General Powell was known to them as a kindly gentleman who will stand for a good deal before he will shoot, so they determined to try it on him.

"Heave Ho," but

Bobo Hove.

They lined up in front of the gate and tuned up. It looked all right, and decided to play a song with runs with the words, "I'm a good boy." The street was filled with song. The quartet did the heavy work and the ladies carried the soprano. The police, however, were on the scene, and one of them came his way he killed it with a bass blast that would have divided the meadow with a mile wide. De Radeau.

MENDED FROM BRIDGE TO DEATH
WHILE WATCHMAN RAN TO SAVE HIM

BRIDGE

Watchman Lewis Almost Reached Desperate Man's Side When He Jumped to Death.

SAW HIM POISE IN MOONLIGHT

Letters and Photographs Indicate That He Was Frank McCormick of Florida.

Leaping from the rail of Eads bridge in the darkness of the early morning, with the hand of a watchman who would have saved him from death in the dark waters below, almost clutching his coat, was a man, supposed to be Frank McCormick of Winter Haven, Fla., met death without a struggle and without leaving behind a last word for friend or relative, or a note, which would positively identify him.

Two photographs from the same negative were found in the pockets of a coat he left upon the bridge. They are supposed to be pictures of the man, although they do not correspond in any details to the description furnished by the watchman. There was no name on either.

As he was making one of his regular trips across the bridge at 2 o'clock in the morning, walking west, Private Watchman George G. Lewis of 361A Hermon street, saw silhouetted against a clear, moonlit sky the form of a man on the rail. He saw the man lift a bottle to his lips and drink.

Realizing the moment the fool appeared, the death was the thought within the mind of the man. Watchman Lewis ran with all speed, hoping to reach him in time to prevent the leap.

For a moment only was there a hesitancy upon the part of the figure upon the rail. Once or twice the body swayed back and forth, the man evidently trying to gain his balance that he might make the jump far clear of the bridge and the wires along its sides. There was no motion to return to the bridge floor.

Jumped When Almost Saved.

Lewis had almost reached his side when the form disappeared from the bridge. He had almost clutched the clothing of the man when the latter, turning his head for an instant, revealed a face depicting evident torture of mind, and sprang into space.

Lewis looked over the rail, saw the body strike the water with a splash, and then watched the expiring bubbles rise to the surface of the river, but he saw it no more. It was evidently caught by the current and carried far down the stream before it came to the surface.

Realizing that he could do no more, Lewis delivered the garment of the man to the body upon the bridge, for any evidences left by the man, revealing his identity. Close by the rail was a black coat and hat, which he had evidently left there, as he was without coat when he made the leap.

Lewis delivered the garment to an officer from the police station, where it was taken. Upon searching the pockets a number of letters were found, all the envelopes bearing the name of Frank McCormick, Mount Erie, Ill. One of the letters mentioned the sale of some property belonging to McCormick, and another said that this is believed that the dead man is McCormick, that his home is in Winter Haven, Fla., that he came to St. Louis from Mount Erie, Ill.

Another Letter to "Dear Addie."

One partially finished letter, so poorly written that only a portion of it can be read, was addressed to "Dear Addie." The writer was evidently making excuses for inattention to the woman whom the letter was addressed. It was unsigned.

The photographs found with the letters were those of a man about 30 years old, smooth shaven. They corresponded with the description of the man who leaped from the bridge, as furnished by Watchman Lewis with the exception of the fact that the Lewis says the man had a sandy mustache, while now is seen in the photographs. Owing to the darkness, however, Lewis gained rather an indistinct description of the man, and the name (name) the police are not certain they are of the dead man, although from the fact that the man was a stranger, this is the theory accepted by the police.

It is not known whether the man was upon the bridge from St. Louis or East St. Louis, as he was at another time, and in call collecting toll from a man at that hour. He may have been on the bridge for several hours before news of his death, but so far no one has been found who saw him upon the bridge with the exception of a waterman.

The body has not been recovered.

ALL THE ALTONS
ARE AT THE FAIR

If You Are Looking for Anyone in City on Bluffs, Don't Go
There Today.

This is Alton Day at the World's Fair. Alton is the straight-up-and-down city on the Illinois bluffs 26 miles north of St. Louis.

Alton appeared at the Fair gates at 9:30 o'clock 3500 strong.

"Only four trainloads of us here," said the man with the big yellow badge. "Look out for the boat."

Alton hasn't had such a day since the Prince of Wales went through there in and 5 o'clock—one of 34 coaches, another of 12.

They were all packed full of people.

Other trains followed during the forenoon. By 1 o'clock there were only a few people left, and hardly any town.

"Where's the Illinois building?" said the leader of the delegation of 3500, waving the cravat.

He was shown the way, and away they went, with the White Hussar Band at their head.

"Brave, Alton!" said President Francis, thrusting his head out of the Administration building.

"Look out for the boat," said the last man as the procession wound over the hill.

The Alton people are making the Illinois building their headquarters, and they may have exercises there late in the afternoon.

"They will go home at 11 o'clock by the train and boats."

"Whoop!"

Alton hasn't had such a day since the Prince of Wales went through there in 1893.

"We're coming!" said Alton, addressing President Francis.

Mrs. Brickey was elected unanimously by the members of her council to represent them on the list of hostesses. She is one of the most popular matrons in Vernon.

BATTLE FOR LIFE
BENEATH THE SEA

Ten Men Imprisoned Forty-Five Minutes in Submarine Boat Porpoise.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Imprisoned in the submarine torpedo boat Porpoise, that had sunk to the bottom of Narragansett bay through a failure in the mechanism, ten men made a desperate fight for life on Monday afternoon. Under the terrific pressure at the depth of 120 feet, at which she lay, valves burst and seams began to leak, letting in the water in a steady trickle that warned the men how short was the time in which they might bring her to the surface again.

Five of the men struggled in vain, working in relays on the hand air-pump in the hope of getting a pressure sufficient to give the boat the necessary buoyancy.

Every man on board was on the verge of utter exhaustion when at last she shifted from her resting place, and another five minutes were required to bring her to the surface of the bay.

There were 16 inches of water under her flooring, and she was brought to the dock by divers with her hull partially torn out of sight.

The Porpoise is a boat of the Holland type and carried a crew of eight men.

For six months the boat had been lying at the dock, waiting for which a steady commission.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Cured Him.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner,

Seattle, Wash.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner, American Epicurean, late Chef to Col. J. J. Buffalo Bill, now chef at the Rainier Grand Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble until life did not seem worth living. I had tried many medicines but did not get any relief until I took Peruna. It was really wonderful how much better I was after I had used this medicine only a week. I did not expect that it would help me permanently, but as long as it was doing me good I continued to use it. At the end of six months I found to my relief that it had rid my system of all poisons, and that I was cured to stay cured. You certainly have a splendid medicine and I gladly endorse it."—Otto A. Fleissner.

Catarrh of the Kidneys a Common Disease—Kidney Trouble Often Fails to Be Regarded as Catarrh by Physicians.

Catarrh of the kidneys is very common indeed. It is a pity that this fact is not better known to physicians as well as to the people.

People have kidney disease. They take some diuretic, hoping to get better. They never think of catarrh. Kidney disease and catarrh are in the minds of the people, and also, it is not very often associated in the minds of the physicians. Too few physicians recognize the kidney trouble. They doctor for something else.

Thousands of testimonials from people who have had kidney disease which had gone beyond the control of the physician are received by Dr. Hartman every year, giving Peruna the whole praise for marvelous cures.

DR. WILSON BLAMES FAIR MANAGEMENT

Criticised the Conduct of the Unparalleled Free Road to Philippine Exhibit

AND POINTS OUT THE REMEDY

Declares the Intramural Conductors Should be Compelled to Announce the Line.

Dr. W. P. Wilson, chairman of the Philippine Exposition board at the World's Fair, made the following statement to the Post-Dispatch Thursday, in which he lays at the door of the Exposition management the failure of the general public to make use of the free branch of the Intramural railroad, running from Station 7 to the curtail of the Philippine exhibit:

"The Exposition management promised to build that road and to run it without fare. After that the managers said that fare would be charged. Word was given the main Intramural conductors that after Philippine day, Saturday, Aug. 23, fare would be charged."

"Up to Monday of this week no other information was given to the conductors on the main line, but the conductor on the Philippine branch was told not to collect any."

"No announcement of any kind has ever been made as to what this star car which stands on a sidetrack beyond Station No. 7 is to do. It is not clear whether it is to extend toward the Philippine reservation, no stranger could see how he could ever ride to the star car from the main line."

"The car stands apparently in a side-track, six or eight rods beyond the station proper, without any platform, and the signal approach is so bad of being in any way connected with transportation to the Philippines."

"The meeting platform to this car should be built and the main line Intramural conductors should be ordered to announce that they will run the Intramural train on the car to the Philippine grounds without extra charge."

The conductor on one of the two cars that operated on Philippine day told me persons on that car had to pay 50 passengers on his car alone that day. If the conductors would only make the announcement the cars would always be filled."

KIDNAPED BOY RETURNS HOME

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—Ernest Clegg, 13 years old, is expected to arrive in this city from Louisville at noon today. He is the only son of Mrs. M. Clegg, a widow, who lives at 201 North Fifth street, and the story from Louisville is that he was kidnapped by a blind beggar.

"About a year ago," said Mrs. Clegg to day, "I saw an advertisement in a newspaper for a boy. I took Ernest to the address and found George Seville, a blind man. He said he was a book agent in his work. Most of the time he would be in Philadelphia, he said. While Ernest was in school he would come to him at night and put my son in the reform school there. Although I know where Ernest was since December, I have not had the time to bring him home until now. In investigating Seville I learned that instead of being a book agent he was a common beggar."

The second letter was dated Louisville.

Ernest wrote that Seville had beaten him and that he had asked the protection of the Army. He had arrested the blind man and put my son in the reform school there.

"THE NAME THAT MEANS MUCH FOR ST. LOUIS."

WASHINGTON AV. AND SIXTH STREET.

men Employed in Drug Houses and Chemical Factories Must Be Extremely Cautious.

Special to the Post-Dispatch:
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—Men who work in drug houses and chemical factories must be extremely cautious. The story told the police of an up-town station the other day by William Snyder of Sixth and Jefferson streets, in explanation of the seemingly irrational actions of his brother, is probably enough.

Snyder told the police that his brother worked in the opium and morphine department of a large drug house, and that he had become mentally affected by continual handling of these drugs.

It is a well-known fact that many of the poisons and chemicals which enter into the composition of drugs are capable either of being absorbed into the human system through the hand or affecting it by inhalation.

So well is this danger recognized that in all the large drug and chemical houses men who are required to work among such drugs habitually are obliged to take extra precautions to guard themselves against danger.

In the drug house of Henry Rosenberger & Sons, Seventeenth and Fitzwater streets, the men engaged in the manufacture of any of the alkaloids are obliged to wear respirators to prevent them from absorbing through the air passes too much of the drugs.

Doctors say that these men occasionally feel themselves getting "a little dopy," in which case they promptly resort to coffee for a cure.

Great care has to be exercised by the workers who continually handle mercury or any dangerous preparation. It is extremely liable to be absorbed through the pores of the skin.

Workmen are also very liable to be affected by the fumes and all the aromatic drugs.

This drug gives off a fine powder, which will quickly saturate the system unless properly protected.

The manufacture of the cyanide of potassium and sodium is always attended with very great danger, and though experienced men are put on this class of work, and even they must exercise the utmost precaution.

BELLEVILLE DAY AT THE FAIR

Business Will Be Suspended and Great Preparations Made to Make It a Great Event.

Great preparations are being made by the Retail Merchants' Association and the Commercial Club of Belleville for the celebration of Belleville's Day, Sept. 16, at the World's Fair. At last night's meeting of the manufacturers' association it was decided to close all the stores all day in order that all the clerks might be able to attend. The Manufacturers' Association, it is thought, will order all factories closed that day.

There is some dissatisfaction among the manufacturers over the amount of time of the day which has been allotted Belleville.

It follows, L. Louis, and it is feared that the day will be a failure.

But the grand St. Louis day will completely overshadow the crowd of the following day.

Contemplates Placing of Sun Bath in Treasury Building for Official Rat Catchers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—Secretary Shaw is worried about the score or more lean cats which make their home in the great treasury building.

These cats drag out a somber existence in the gloomy hallways and vaults of the structure, and as a consequence are not popular with the treasury department. Secretary Shaw meets them occasionally in the corridors of the building, and they have shown no pity to the poor. He is considering the possibility of establishing an official enclosure in the sunlight for the exclusive use of the tabbies.

"No child was ever known to get strong and vigorous that lived indoors all the time," said the secretary today. "No child was ever known to get strong and vigorous that lived outdoors all the time."

The employees about the building are of the opinion that the cats would not take well to the new face of the building.

Some sunless life. They spend most of their time down in the lower regions of the treasury and seldom appear during the winter months with evening, when the clerks are vying.

Ceremonies Held at Ursuline and Convent of Good Shepherd.

At the Convent of the Good Shepherd and the Ursuline Convent several young women took the religious vows and were admitted to the sisterhood. Wednesday. Archbishop Glennon was present and made a brief address. At the Ursuline Convent, where the same ceremonies were in progress, Rev. Fr. P. J. O'Conor, vicar-general of the diocese, made the address.

The novices who took the vows at the Convent of the Good Shepherd were: Sister Mary St. Ursula, Sister Charles; Sister Mary of the Holy Innocents, Gaffney of Denver; Sister Mary Matthew, Hare of Kansas City; Sister Mary Adeline, Sister Mary of the Holy Angels; Sister Mary Catherine of St. Louis.

GAMBLER COMMITS THEFT.

$565 Stolen From Player Who Beat River Steamer Game.

A draft for $565 in cash were taken from Charles A. Jayne while he was a passenger on the steamer City of Providence Wednesday. Jayne told the police that he was allowed to play without wagering any money. In due time Jayne had a lot of fun, but he was afraid that he had violated the old excuse of the steamboat gambling fakirs and told Jayne that he wouldn't be paid unless he showed him enough money to cover the bet that had been made.

Of course, Jayne drew all he had from his pockets and the thief promptly took it away from him.

Gamblers on the river steamer have adopted the plan for evasion arrest according to information received by the police. Instead of remaining on the boat until it lands, the gamblers will board a launch midstream and make a quiet landing.

When the victim of the steamboat sharpers comes to have the men who robbed him arrested, he may find the policeman, but the policeman can't find the offenders. They are not on the boat.

INJURED DOG TREATED WITH ALL THE SKILL OF CITY HOSPITAL STAFF

JOHN YOUNG BROWN, JR., AND HIS DOG "GYP"

"Gyp," the favorite collie of John Young Brown III, son of the superintendent of the City Hospital, is having a crushed foot injury that institution.

While enacting the sport of running in front of and barking at the ambulances as they enter the hospital grounds "Gyp" was run over and one of his fore limbs was mashed by a wheel. He was picked up and tenderly carried into the hospital, where he was treated with all the care that is shown a patient.

After an examination, consultation and some bandaging "Gyp" was pronounced "painfully but not necessarily fatally hurt," in the language of the hospital reports. At noon Thursday he was reported fully recovered and is now on the convalescent list.

"Gyp's" young master returned to the hospital Thursday from a vacation, and his sorrow at learning of the dog's hurt was only equalled when his father assured him that the very superior care the animal was receiving.

BIGGEST AMERICAN STEAMER IS READY

Minnesota, Fresh From the Builders' Hands, Prepares to Enter Oriental Trade

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Great Northern Steamship company's new boat Minnesota recently launched by the Eastern Shipbuilding company of New London, Conn., is in port.

Few vessels ever received a heavier welcome in Fort Hamilton, where the vessels were dipped in their pier, a triumphal passage. Every steam-whistle in the harbor tendered a salute.

The vessel is the largest steamship ever built by an American shipbuilding concern, and with a few exceptions, the largest afloat. She is designed to accommodate traffic and passengers, many of the suggestions of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Steamship company, who is the owner of the vessel, and who also organized the company to build her.

The object in constructing the Minnesota was to secure as great a carrying capacity as possible, and at the same time furnish as comfortable quarters to its passengers on the ocean as any ship can produce. Speed was a secondary aim. Nevertheless, the boat will make over 15 knots an hour.

The ship is fitted with a double bottom for nearly her entire length. In addition there are innumerable water-tight compartments.

The Minnesota measures over all 600 feet and an extreme width of 73½ feet and a depth from the bottom to the keel to the upper navigating bridge of 83 feet 3½ inches. Its displacement when fully laden will be 10,000 tons, and 600 tons greater than the Manchuria, which is at present the greatest vessel on the Pacific.

The boat has a complete system, which includes all the appliances for cooking and a complete telephone system. The cabins are large and comfortable, well decorated.

A number of novelties include a large children's playroom and an opium den for Oriental passengers.

WHY MEN STEAL FROM EMPLOYERS

Wall Street Comes First, Say Men Who Pay Losses, Horse Racing Next.

WOMEN LEAD IN BOSTON

"Insurance Press" Inquiry Indicate Different Causes in Various Cities, According to Interests.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—An extensive investigation of the causes of defalcation in large financial institutions has just been completed by "The Insurance Press" of this city. The results of the inquiry were published in the last issue of that journal. The data was gathered from the officers of the large surety concerns throughout the country.

According to President Henry D. Lyman of the American Surety Co. of this city, the four principal causes of defalcation in Greater New York in the order of their importance are:

Speculation in Wall street, betting on horse races, high living and dissipation.

President Lyman says that 25 per cent of the defalcations that have come under his observation in Greater New York are due to betting on horse racing. In the South, he believes, card playing does the most harm, and that is because horse racing is not popular there. "Even down or two," he says, "the American Surety Co. is called upon to make good for some young fellows who have made it their business to bet on horses that didn't win."

According to Superintendent Charles H. Haskins, of the surety department of the Employers' Liability Association of Boston, the four chief causes of defalcation in that city, in their ranking order, Women, speculation, high living and expensive hobbies.

"There is apparently one attribute of man, namely, 'idleness,'" says Mr. Hall, "which, more than all else, is allied with all the causes leading to downfall."

"Women are the greatest cause of defalcation. Speculation comes next. Doubtless, man's desire to please, leads him to the women, and the woman's desire to make happy his woman."

"Among hobbies I class horses and racing, which has not as yet come up much comment in that direction, but they will."

General Manager D. A. Macbeth of the Bankers' Surety Co. of Cleveland, O., says the most prolific causes of defalcation in the New York Stock Exchange, market of trade, New Orleans cotton market, horse racing and gambling and fast living in general.

Secretary D. J. Tompkins of the United States Sureties Co. of New York reports the defalcations among highly-paid officials are due:

"Stock speculation, intemperate habits, extravagance in travel, dissipations and gambling and horse racing."

Cheerful clerks in New York embezzle, Mr. Tompkins says, the following causes:

"Intemperate habits, gambling, lottery associations and inadequate compensation." By "inadequate compensation," Secretary Tompkins means wages sufficient as compared with the cost of maintaining the employee and his wife and children in comfort, especially during illness.

President William B. Joyce of the National Surety Co. of New York says that only about 10 per cent of the defalcations in New York are deliberate, the great majority of embezzlers falling into trouble through some carelessness. The chief causes, he says, are:

"Betting on horse races, speculation and his average defaulter," he says, "simply borrows, in his own opinion, oftentimes to help relatives, intending to repay.

SWIMMER DIES FROM INJURIES

Youth Fell on Richard Brossen, Causing Fatal Wound.

An inquest will be held today over the body of Richard H. Brossen, 20 years old, of Union County, Oregon, who died at the City Hospital as a result of injuries received in a peculiar manner in the swimming pool at the Hotel Marion on Grand Avenue and Hickory street, Tuesday.

While Brossen was bathing a boy holding to a rope fell, striking Brossen on the abdomen, causing him to fall into the water. He came up, however, and continued his swim and then went to his room. When he returned to the water he was found in the abdomen and was taken to the City Hospital, where, after several hours of suffering, he died.

BURGLAR VISITED TWO HOUSES

First Success Was Followed by Discovery and Flight.

Michael Gilmore of 222 South Jefferson avenue is minus $15 and a gold watch and chain valued at $25 as the result of an early morning visit of a burglar. The robbery occurred at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and an hour later Henry Koenig, who lives at 205 Armand street, was awakened by a noise at the back window of his home. He looked out and saw a man climbing through the window. The burglar said that he was discovered. The burglar did quiet work in Gilmore's home for not a single member of the family, including Gilmore's three sons, which contained the money, were taken from his bedroom into another room and there emptied by the intruder.

Wife Charges Bigamy.

Henry Maybrick is here at the Carr street police station pending the decision of Mrs. Sarah Seidenberg of Boston, Mass., as to whether or not she wishes to prosecute him upon a charge of bigamy. The arrest was made upon complaint of Mrs. Seidenberg, who alleges her husband deserted her and their children in Boston eight years ago and that he was still living there. She was in St. Louis the day she found him living at 1008 High street under the name of Harry Maybrick. His second wife before his marriage was Mollie West. She lived in Memphis, but the couple was married in Newport, Ark.

MRS. AYER'S DAUGHTER GREETS MRS. MAYBRICK AT STEAMSHIP PIER

Welcomes to the United States the Woman to Secure Whose Freedom Her Mother Had Done Such Conspicuous and Effective Work.

BY MARGARET HUBBARD AYER, Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—From 7:30 until a few minutes past 11 I watched the Vaderland steam slowly up, the bay, conscious of but one thing—Florence Maybrick was on that ship. Free at last, coming home, and that huge ocean liner approaching, how slowly!

I was realizing one of my mother's dearest ambitions. It was bringing Florence Maybrick back to her friends and to me. For this purpose, indeed, Margaret Hubbard Ayer had saved every cent of her life. Florence Maybrick's fate was always close to her heart, and when she made a journey to England in 1902 for the New York World and Post-Dispatch to witness the coronation of Edward VII, I knew that secretly to her the journey meant a quest in the cause of Mrs. Maybrick, whom she believed absolutely innocent of the crime for which she was sentenced.

To learn every particular my mother had gathered together all the literature concerning Mrs. Maybrick. Going to England on the homeward voyage her stateroom was literally packed with books, references and notices concerning the famous case, so much did Margaret Hubbard Ayer, too, care to touch her heart that on the homeward voyage she neglected taking the much-needed rest the ocean trip afforded her, but continued daily working on the Maybrick lecture which she subsequently delivered at many women's clubs in this country.

Visit to Mrs. Maybrick's Mother.

No sooner had we reached Paris than my mother began communicating with the Baroness von Roques, and finally we took the short journey to Rouen to visit Mrs. Maybrick's mother personally and to see if there were any way of seeing Mrs. Maybrick in her prison and in what way my mother could be of service to the cause in America.

"Among hobbies I class horses and racing, which has not as yet come up much comment in that direction, but they will," she said. "Horse racing does not cut any great figure in Boston."

General Manager D. A. Macbeth of the Bankers' Surety Co. of Cleveland, O., says the most prolific causes of defalcation in the New York Stock Exchange, market of trade, New Orleans cotton market, horse racing and gambling and fast living in general.

Secretary D. J. Tompkins of the United States Sureties Co. of New York reports the defalcations among highly-paid officials are due:

"Stock speculation, intemperate habits, extravagance in travel, dissipations and gambling and horse racing."

Cheerful clerks in New York embezzle, Mr. Tompkins says, the following causes:

"Intemperate habits, gambling, lottery associations and inadequate compensation."

By "inadequate compensation," Secretary Tompkins means wages sufficient as compared with the cost of maintaining the employee and his wife and children in comfort, especially during illness.

President William B. Joyce of the National Surety Co. of New York says that only about 10 per cent of the defalcations in New York are deliberate, the great majority of embezzlers falling into trouble through some carelessness. The chief causes, he says, are:

"Betting on horse races, speculation and his average defaulter," he says, "simply borrows, in his own opinion, oftentimes to help relatives, intending to repay.

Swimmer Dies From Injuries

Youth Fell on Richard Brossen, Causing Fatal Wound.

An inquest will be held today over the body of Richard H. Brossen, 20 years old, of Union County, Oregon, who died at the City Hospital as a result of injuries received in a peculiar manner in the swimming pool at the Hotel Marion on Grand Avenue and Hickory street, Tuesday.

While Brossen was bathing a boy holding to a rope fell, striking Brossen on the abdomen, causing him to fall into the water. He came up, however, and continued his swim and then went to his room. When he returned to the water he was found in the abdomen and was taken to the City Hospital, where, after several hours of suffering, he died.

Burglar Visited Two Houses

First Success Was Followed by Discovery and Flight.

Michael Gilmore of 222 South Jefferson avenue is minus $15 and a gold watch and chain valued at $25 as the result of an early morning visit of a burglar. The robbery occurred at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and an hour later Henry Koenig, who lives at 205 Armand street, was awakened by a noise at the back window of his home. He looked out and saw a man climbing through the window. The burglar said that he was discovered. The burglar did quiet work in Gilmore's home for not a single member of the family, including Gilmore's three sons, which contained the money, were taken from his bedroom into another room and there emptied by the intruder.

AKINS FROZEN OUT BY NEW COMMITTEE

Opponents of Former State Chairman Fill All the Offices of Divided Secretariat.

Kansas City has been selected as the place for opening the state campaign by the Republican executive committee, an announcement of the committee of the Post-Dispatch was made.

The committee sat Saturday, Sept. 3, as the date, contingent on the ability of Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, the vice-presidential nominee, to adjust his speaking dates so as to be present.

Telegrams from national Republican headquarters at Chicago say he can be there either Sept. 2 or 3.

It is presumed he will stop at St. Louis on his way.

The executive committee of the state committee adopted a new plan of organization.

Instead of exercising the power delegated to it by the full committee to select a secretary for the committee, the executive body decided to divide the campaign work into departments, with a secretary for each department, their rank to be equal.

They selected Joseph McCoy of Independence as secretary of the department of records, which will handle official documents; E. C. Rockmeyer of St. Louis, secretary of the committee of speakers; and Charles Morris of St. Joseph, secretary of the committee on speakers.

It is proposed that additional secretaries may be added, and with them additional secretaries.

These secretaries will place their desks in the new Commercial building headquarters at once and will relieve the new chairman, K. Niedringhaus, of most of his burdens.

The men of establishing departments was given to the executive committee by Mr. Niedringhaus, who will remain with the committee to assist in the preparation of the Post-Dispatch Wednesdays.

The entire organization was a victory for the Webster men. The Atkins followed got nothing. Dr. Clements, who was the first to be elected to the secretariat, was prominently mentioned for the secretaryship after the Atkins lost in the first election.

When the three secretaries were disposed of Wednesday, Dr. Clements was not given any seat on the committee. He was not a candidate for the secretaryship and that his name was used without any personal desire on his part to get the place.

The committee is strongly anti-Akins.

ACTION FOLLOWS VISIT OF EX-ATTORNEY-GENERAL KNOX

Former Cabinet Officer Pleads Mrs.
Phipps' Case So Well Her Father-in-Law Is Stirred.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—Henry Phipps, the multi-millionaire steel benefactor of Lawrence C. Phipps, who is now suing his beautiful wife for divorce after taking possession of his own children, has taken the latter severely to task for his actions.

Lawrence C. Phipps has been ordered by Henry Phipps, the elder, who now lives in London, to return the stolen children immediately. Mrs. Phipps has agreed to do so. He has set Sept.
1 as the date on which the children will be delivered by him in person to his wife in Pittsburgh.

The elder Phipps, in his cablegram from London, did not mince matters with Lawrence C. Phipps, but told him plainly that he had broken a promise made to him, and that unless he returned the children promptly to the wife and mother he would incur the displeasure of his elder relative and adviser.

The first cablegram sent to Lawrence C.
Phipps was to the effect: "If you take technical advantage of your wife to obtain a divorce after violating your agreement with me, we are quits."

The second cablegram sent a few hours later, while Lawrence C. Phipps had agreed to allow his wife possession of the children until matters of separation were settled, told him that he must return the children immediately. It turned the children at once to the wife and mother.

The third cablegram received by Mr.
Phipps a few days ago was to the point and read as follows:

"Do not attempt to allow this case to go to court. I return. This is final since we have Knox."

The last cablegram was that of the ex-Attorney-General, Knox, of Pittsburgh, to Edward S. Tamm, company with Attorney James M. Beck of New York. When the children were taken from Mrs. Phipps she moved to New York, leaving her husband in London, but not getting as speedy action as she desired, she insisted that Mr. Knox, then attorney-general, should see that the children were returned to her by the time she went to Europe to lay the case before Henry Phipps.

She offered to Mr. Knox a retaining fee of $25,000 if he agreed to accept only after he had become United States senator and was reelected from the Pennsylvania cabinet. The offer was accepted. Mr. Knox's trip to Europe is shown in the cablegram to the younger Mr. Phipps and will lead to the return of the Phillips children to America as soon as possible. There may be any means end the divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Phipps says she is only getting interested in the case, and so strong is she in the belief that she will win her latest move in quashing the divorce suit in the court that she has presented a writ of enter-ver against her husband, Lawrence C. Phipps, the moment his proceedings are squelched.

It is known that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Phipps are in Chicago endeavoring to effect a settlement of their difficulties.

FINDS NEW SPOT ON MOON.

Prof. Pickering Confirms Discovery of Craterlet Three Miles Wide.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 25.—A telegram has been received here from Prof. W.
H. Pickering, who is at the Lowell observatory, California, tending to confirm an observation of spots on the moon, made by him last month, which he believed to be in the large lunar crater Plato, which had not been detected before. It was again seen on Aug. 2 and 3. It had grown from one and a half to two inches in diameter and resembled a small crater. An object is said to come in position with the large crater Plato, but is apparently larger. Renewed scrutiny in the last few days reveals the continued existence of the spots, which are measured to be two miles across. Two other tiny craters and a dark spot on the floor of Plato are not previously reported also are announced by Prof. Pickering.

The dental congress will doubtless show that every man may become a Roosevelt.

It is a great year for the Southwest. Northern and eastern farmers are crowding trains bound for Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and the Indian Territory.

Missouri week and St. Louis day are of the greatest importance to the Exposition. Attention will be concentrated on the Missouri and St. Louis attendance.

THE CZAR'S GRACIOUS GIFTS.

The Czar's gifts to the Russian people "for their greater enjoyment in their daily lives" are of "royal favor," and they are holiday gifts.

Monarchs who grant liberties out of their royal favor did well enough when men had not become aware of their right to freedom, a right antecedent to royal goodness. When the English got tired of James II and his royal goodness, they granted the throne to William of Orange, first making him acknowledge their rights as freemen, and bind himself to respect and defend them.

This is the modern principle, and the Czar, however well meaning he may be, does no more than skim the surface when he grants as of favor what men possess in virtue of their manhood. Whether or not Russia is ready for this English and American doctrine of freedom is a question. But certain it is that until the Russians reach this consciousness of free manhood, they will not obtain the political condition which corresponds to it. The Czar will continue graciously to grant what the people already possess until they awake to the fact that they do possess it.

Mr. Roosevelt is counting on a large number of first voters. Possibly, however, the young men of the United States are not so thoughtless as might be supposed.

ENFORCE THE STREET-CAR LAW.

City Councilman Gardner having proposed a law providing that when one street car approaches another which has stopped, the motorman must stop his car till the other one has unloaded its passengers and proceeded, the City Councilor called attention to the fact that a law having a similar object is already enacted.

The law now in existence, which is not enforced, is not unreasonable in its provisions. It reads that, "Whenever any car is about to pass another car going in the opposite direction, at a point where it is permissible to passengers to alight from or to board a car, said car shall proceed at a rate of speed not over three miles an hour, and the motorman, driver or person in control shall ring a warning gong or bell."

This appears to be a good law, because a motorman should have his car in full control, when proceeding at the rate of only three miles an hour, especially if the car be equipped with air brakes.

Had this law been enforced, the two ladies who were run down at Alta Station a few days ago might have been alive today, and many similar accidents might have been avoided.

Now that attention has been called to this law, it should be rigorously enforced.

In advertising the World's Fair, or in writing to prospective visitors, the fact should be made known that St. Louis has not had a single death from sunstroke this season. Come here and be cool.

"BAH-LOONI BAH-LOONI"

Frank Dearday is quite right to ask, in his letter to the Post-Dispatch, that airship and balloon aeronauts from the World's Fair be more frequent.

There are thousands of St. Louis people and suburbanites who want to be waked up. They have not yet been to the Fair and "don't just know when they will go." The Fair is there, all right, but St. Louis is such a big place that the visible signs of the wonderful show have failed to reach them. An airship, sailing, dodging and circling overhead in all the city's metes and bounds would cause some many "Ahs" and "Ohs" as have not been heard in a long time, and the athletic ones would hasten to pack the lunch basket and make ready to go to the spot from whence such a marvel appeared.

If there is a real, sure-enough, dirigible balloon in the World's Fair, let it be started on this advertising trip, for the benefit of the doubters and the home-stayers. Make a stir outside the grounds, up in the air, where everybody must see what is going on. Let us have something novel and startling. Give the aeronauts a show.

The Washington Post, which ridiculed the Pingree idea of raising vegetables on vacant city lots, now declares that Mr. Potter, a resident of the capital, has solved the question of advantageous use of waste urban ground by raising on a piece of land 50 feet square all the vegetables he could use and enough to distribute among neighbors.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION UNION.

The meeting of the International Arbitration Union Sept. 9 to 14 will be one of world-wide importance.

The object of this union, which is a federation of national peace and arbitration societies, is to promote the growth of peace by the negotiation of arbitration treaties. All topics are pertinent which make for the mitigation of the cruelties of war and its final situation. Many of the leading statesmen of Europe will be present as active participants.

It is hoped that the delegates will receive a sympathetic welcome in St. Louis and be made to feel that they stand for a cause in keeping with the characteristic aspirations of Americans. Notwithstanding the persistent assertions of militarism and the big stick philosophy in high quarters the popular temper is tame and pacific. We are not a nation of brawlers.

Members of the union must be made aware of this fact in some emphatic fashion. America stands for peace. Let the meeting be in an atmosphere of good will.

STEADYING CONDITIONS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD.

From the World's Work for September:

The commercial and financial condition of the country in the summer of this presidential campaign presents no startling facts—except this one, that we are suffering much less disturbance than we suffered during any preceding presidential campaign of easy memory.

Much of this freedom from disturbance we owe to Mr. Parker. When he practically eliminated the currency question from political discussion, he did a distinct service to every business man in the land. There is no fear of a disturbance of the standard of value if he should be elected.

In financial confidence, the East is, for the moment, more timid than the West, because last spring the East was more foolish than the West. To take one illustration—over 100 railroads in the summer—a presidential summer at that—borrowed immense sums of money for betterment. They seemed in a mood to do all their betterments at once. Instead of distributing this work and this enormous investment over a number of years, they went at the task as if it had all to be done at once. They employed an abnormally large number of men. They spent large sums in wages.

Then the panic came. Business sagged somewhat. These railway managers suddenly became as conservative as they had before been impatient. They took a slower pace. They discharged armies of laborers. Now, every discharged man becomes a center of industrial disturbance. Not only is he idle—that is bad enough—but his friends know that he is idle. They talk much about it, naturally; and their friends and friends of their friends talk about it. When great groups of these are unemployed, the economic reports of it, they comment on it. Other employers begin to fear that hard times are before them. "If the great railroads must lay off men by the hundred and the thousand, had I better not reduce my working force to a minimum?" one naturally says. The psychological effect of such action by large employers—one wonders whether these men think of it? A general slackening of business has been caused by the working of much less logical forces.

But in spite of disturbances of this kind, and in spite even of strikes, commercial conditions have not been especially discouraging.

The outlook is for a quiet but sound condition of trade, till the election, and then the best judges expect a revival of activity that will be noteworthy.

PARKER'S POSITION MADE CLEAR.

The World takes pleasure in printing today a letter from Judge Parker to John G. Milburn, Esq., which makes clear beyond question his attitude toward the Philippines. Judge Parker assures his friend that, "You are entirely right in assuming that as I employed the phrase 'self-government' it was intended to be identical with independence, political and territorial." And he adds:

"After noting, the criticism referred to by you I am still unable to understand how it can be said that a people enjoy self-government under another nation may in any degree whatever control their actions. But to take away all possible opportunity for conjecture it shall be made clear in my letter of acceptance that I am in hearty accord with that plank in the Democratic platform which advocates treating the Philippines precisely as we did the Cubans; and I also favor making the promise to them now to take such action as soon as it can be prudently done."

This is clear and explicit. It makes Judge Parker's attitude toward imperialism as plain as his famous dispatch to the St. Louis convention made his attitude toward the gold standard.

There has never been so much doubt as to the meaning of the phrase "self-government" as he used it. Had not this term been employed so often by the imperialists to cloak their purposes in the Philippines. President McKinley used it sometimes qualified by the word "local." President Roosevelt uses it. It is even defended by those who avow their hostility to any movement looking to a withdrawal of the "sovereignty" over the Philippines. Our allies, they say, enjoy "self-government," though chartered by and subject to the federal authority in national matters. And so they favor, in President Roosevelt's words, "government of the Philippines by the Filipinos assisted by Americans"—by an army of 25,000, for example, and a raft of American carpet-baggers.

It was for this reason that the World in its first comments on Judge Parker's speech of acceptance declared his language to be "vague," and said that if he meant freedom and independence for the Philippines he "should have made his position perfectly clear."

That there was ample ground for this friendly criticism the sequel quickly proved. The imperialist Times said on the same morning that the passage relating to the Philippines was "not of vital significance," and that—

"The only perceptible difference between the Democratic position and the Republican position is that Judge Parker would tell the Filipinos now what is in store for them, and President Roosevelt would not."

The imperialist Brooklyn Eagle, which stands sponsor for Judge Parker's nomination, said of his advocacy of "self-government" for the Philippines:

"As to the Filipinos, party proclamations relating thereto cannot be inflated into utterances of consequence. Government may change hands, but instructions sent from Washington to the islands in the far East will undergo no material modification."

Judge Parker having his meaning clear in his own mind, and being a straightforward person, is "still unable to understand" how such a misconception of his language may have been formed. But being convinced that it does exist, he removes all ground for it in the admirably clear letter which we publish today without waiting for his formal letter of acceptance.

In doing this the Democratic candidate does not propose any "scuttling" from the Philippines. We did not retire from Cuba until it was safe to do so for "Free Cuba" and for us, nor until we had obtained ample security for our proper national interests in the future. Judge Parker would "make the promise to the Filipinos now to take such action as soon as it can be prudently done." In honor this nation can do less. In prudence it can do no more. Judge Parker has started his own position and that of the "safe and sane" anti-imperialist in a manner that defines this issue sharply for the campaign. For this he is entitled to credit everywhere given to honest convictions and the full candor and courage of which we have given to him.

MYSTERIES OF MODERN EDUCATION

A Verbatim Interview With a Miss of Twelve Years Reported by an Elderly Person.

Abridged from Good Housekeeping:

Elderly Person: What subjects are you now pursuing at school?

Margaret: Oh, arithmetic and language and cooking and geography and history and drawing and calligraphy and mathematics and mechanical drawing and reading and current events and literature.

Elderly Person: Is that all? Margaret: I may have forgotten some.

Elderly Person: It would seem not to be impossible, my child. But tell me about your arithmetic. Where are you now?

Margaret: We are studying insurance and interest and bank bills and taxes.

Elderly Person: And what, Margaret is your present knowledge of geography?

Margaret: Oh, I dislike geography! (With a sigh.) You know we had to hurry so.

Elderly Person: Behind on Europe, and so we had only two weeks for Asia and two days for Australia.

Elderly Person: Right, even for these days thinks the Elderly Person.

Elderly Person: Can you tell me anything about these continents?

Margaret: Well, there are plains in Asia, and Sydney is in Australia, and Australia supplies Europe with beef.

Elderly Person: And how about history?

Margaret: Oh, I don't like history so.

Elderly Person: You have to learn all about the English French, Spanish and Dutch discoverers and what they discovered. I can't remember the Spanish names. I guess I'll get "U" in the history test.

Elderly Person: You know about exploring. What can you cook?

Elderly Person: We have had potato soup and rice with sauce and fudge and chocolate pudding. We have to eat what we cook. The chocolate pudding made me sick for two days.

Elderly Person: Who thinks that the years can come upon a subject which the years can not change?

Elderly Person: The saints preserve us!

Margaret: Oh, yes! I have applied for a position as a clerk, stenographer and work in a hotel. I answered an advertisement for a boy wanted.

Elderly Person: In what subtle way can the new education suppose that answering an advertisement for "boy wanted" is to benefit this "very pattern girl or girls," with her yellow hair tied up with a bewitching big black bow? Perhaps the idea comes from Germany, in which case there is nothing more to be said.

Well, they all agreed, and the paint was prepared, and soon all were striped with bright colors, and they were as sticky as fly paper. Everything seemed to stick to them, from the dust to the old leaves, and three more miserable chickens you never saw in all your life. At last the old farmer to whom they belonged found them all huddled together, and he dipped them in turpentine, which removed the paint, but smarted so much that the paint was off nothing but cry and wail their sad fate.

The Eight Largest Diamonds.
From the Kansas City Journal.
The eight largest diamonds in the world are what are known as crown jewels. Some of them are in an uncut state, and others are carefully cut and finished, so that there is a wide difference in their value. The Kohinoor, the smallest in weight, has been thus reduced by cutting, and is much the most valuable of the lot, and has been estimated at less than $500,000. The list is as follows: The Diamond part of the Portuguese jewels; 1880 carats; Kohinoor, belonging to the English crown, 104 carats; Star of Brazil, 135 carats; Regent of France, 136 carats; Austrian Kaiser, 159 carats; Russian Czar, 193 carats; Rajah of Borneo, 267 carats.

The Last Man.

From the Smart Set.

It being ascertained that there was in the whole country a citizen in hiding who had boasted in an idle moment that he had never applied for a pension, a body of patriots started out in search of him.

The culprit hung his head in shame as the full enormity of his offense burst upon him.

"Now that I recall the fact," he observed with a cunning smile, "my third great-aunt on my mother's side had a stepfather who caught the grip while shingling the house on the outskirts of the battle of Gettysburg."

"We thought as much," exclaimed the crowd triumphantly, hurrying him on to Washington.

When finally apprehended, the man appeared dogged and defiant.

"I am the possessor," he declared, "of a robust constitution, and none of my ancestors, so far as I know, ever took part in the War of the Rebellion. Why should I rob the public treasury?"

"And this," exclaimed the head of the party, "your only excuse? Have you no regard, sir, for the customs and traditions of your sacred land? Don't you know that for years every lawyer and every political party in the country, from motives of pure patriotism, has labored to get every man, woman and child on the pension list?"

RECLAIMING OF MISSOURI FARMS

Successful Result Follows the Planting of Clover and Cow Peas on Sterile Lands.

EXPERIMENTS BY M. S. U.

The Judicious Use of Nitrogen-Gathering Plants That Nourish, Not Kill, the Soil

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 2.—Through the use of cow peas and clover the officers of the Missouri state board of agriculture hope to reclaim many of the deserted farms of the state and bring back to barren lands its former fertility. Many farmers, in an endeavor to reclaim farms, resorted to the use of commercial fertilizers, but this method is too expensive to insure profitable crops.

In the general introduction of cow peas and clover, it is thought that the problem of reclaiming this land has been solved. A series of experiments carried on by the University of Missouri has demonstrated this, and farmers in all parts of the state are being urged to take up the plan. Although the area of barren land in Missouri is very small, as compared with that of older states, it is rapidly growing larger, and to those who realize the situation, it is apparent to them who realize the situation.

The secret for reclaiming clover and cow peas is because they possess a power peculiar to this class of plants, of gathering nitrogen from the air. Nitrogen feed is required by all domestic plants, and is the most expensive part of commercial fertilizers.

Other Crops.

Lack Quality.

The other staple farm crops, such as corn, wheat, timothy, blue grass, rye and millet, have not the power of gathering nitrogen from the air, and must depend upon the soil. This, in part, explains why clover and cow peas, although producing a hay crop rich in the elements of plant food, are grown, more productive than before.

On land that is badly worn, the careful farmer will find it necessary to make a regular rotation of clover and cow peas with the other farm crops, will keep up the fertility of the soil, and will reduce the cost of the purchase of any commercial fertilizers.

Unfortunately, there are many failures, often under the very best management, connected with the attempt to grow clover.

The experiment station at Columbia recommends the buying of good seeds and caring for the clover crop than any other problem in agriculture.

As a result of these experiments, the station has undertaken a series of experiments to determine the proper season to sow clover, and the best methods of propagation.

On the station grounds for the past two years, once each week, clover has been sown from the 1st of April to the 10th of April.

The result of these experiments have demonstrated that the best time to sow clover is about the middle of March.

When sown earlier than this, and the warm spell will germinate the seed too early and leave the young plants the victims of a late frost.

Any Old Land.

Grows Cow Peas.

The cow pea appears to have the ability to thrive on land too poor to grow either red or crimson clover. It is not affected seriously as clover by excessive heat or dryness, and is not easily smothered out by weeds.

On moist soils in central and southern Missouri, a quantity of vegetable matter, containing a larger total quantity of nitrogen than does red clover. In the sections of the state where the latter is not adapted to the growth of cow peas it is believed that they will prove more satisfactory as a green manure crop than as a cereal crop, especially on soils poor soils, inasmuch as there is less risk in securing a stand, and there is no danger that the plants will smother the young plants.

Compared with other fertilizer crops, the cow pea seems to grow especially well on cow pastures. On these naturally肥沃的 upland clay, which has for the past fifty years been grown in corn and wheat without fertilizers, the cow pea has given a number of experiments in methods of restoring the soil to productivity. On six of these plots the yield was within 10% of the average yield of vines and pods was very large, and aside from the fertilizing properties of the crop showed it had a value of $5.50 an acre.

HORSE SANK FROM HIS VIEW.

Astonished Plowman Calls Neighbors to Dig Out Nut.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 25.—NOT content with having a board of lightning that pulled eight of a man's teeth, Lehigh County boasts of rain that makes caverns in which horses are engulfed and by which the ingenuity of man is taxed to its utmost. The farm of Alvin H. Baethan, near Wescoville, furnishes proof of the latter phenomenon.

Mr. Baethan was unsuspectingly plowing his field, little thinking what a furrow he was about to turn, when one of his horses began sinking into the earth. Knives at the harness were necessary to save the other horse from being engulfed, and a host of neighbors helped dig and haul the buried nag out.

Then it was found that the funnel-shaped cut at its base 20 feet down, was 20 feet in circumference, with various passageways leading farther and deeper.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of all the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy relieves confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free. The Bradford Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ANTI-SALOON APOSTLE TURNS SANDWICH MAN TO SPREAD TEACHINGS

JOHN A. MAIN.

Los Angeles Opponent of Bishop Potter's Ideas Will Walk Across the State of Missouri and Perhaps Farther Between Two Signsboards Telling of Li-Quor Traffic's Evils.

This is John A. Main of Los Angeles, just as he appears in the picture. The tour will commence shortly, starting at St. Louis. On his back is another sign, it says, "Signs that tell the truth." The liquor traffic has caused more misery than war, pestilence and famine combined—Gladstones. Do you vote for the children?"

Wherever he goes he will carry these two signs in sandwich man fashion. He will remain in certain towns and cities long enough to secure the endorsement of the local temperance societies that will be the pride and joy of the community is to stock it up with Deuteronomy or Leviticus rye, remove the pistol from behind the bar and sing the doxology at midnight, with an Ecclesiastes cocktail for a nightcap.

No; Mr. Main believes in getting out and telling the people what sort of an evil they are up against.

Charles A. Stokes, a Kansas City lawyer, state chairman of the Prohibition Alliance, will send him across the state of Missouri to Bishop Potter's ideas that "when it all right, if pure, and that the way to run a good palace that will be the pride and joy of the community is to stock it up with Deuteronomy or Leviticus rye, remove the pistol from behind the bar and sing the doxology at midnight, with an Ecclesiastes cocktail for a nightcap."

Mr. Stokes has ordered 30 big posters, and it is said that they will be used by the Home Protective Association of St. Louis.

Mr. Main should decide to walk to New York after completing his tour of Missouri, as it is the next state to be visited by the Association.

John A. Main is a young man, 25 years old, who is doing a great deal of work for the Prohibition cause.

He is the author of a book, "The Anti-Saloon Apostle," and has written a number of articles on the subject.
